From: Steve Kilcrease – Vice President

Effective May 1st, 2023 please be advised all list prices have been updated and revised in a new PowerSeal price book now available online.

As many of you know this is the first revision to our list prices since 2015. Thus, you will see a major increase in them from previous. As a result, you will need to contact us for your new discount schedules. Your discounts will be increased to offset and reduce a large portion of the change.

We appreciate greatly the trust and continued patronage many of you have shown us in these recent years and look forward to continuing to service each and every one of you.

Best regards,
